UNDER THE PALM LEAF

By Marie Landstreet

"All the world's a stage and all the men and women merely players," goes a quotation from Shakespeare's "As You Like It." And there have been some busy scenes lately on the stage in our auditorium. Members of the east of "Through the Keyhole" have been polishing up on their lines, and the technical staff have been busy testing and setting stage lights and properties. There remains only five practices before the presentation of the play. These are critical times when the actors need concentration and orderly practice. On behalf of the director and the east, I would emphasize the fact that no one excepting those producing the play are supposed to be at play practice. Mist noise and confusion, the cast hindered more than helped by the presence of visitors. As we all know, the proceeds of this play go to the fund for books placed in our library.

tion For a Democracy" last Monday afternoon at the P.T. A. meeting missed out on it, too.

The general theme of the meeting seemed to be "The Responsibility of the School in the Education For a Democracy." Mr. Leonard in his address to the Belle Glade P.T. A. Monday very aptly, I thought, carried the theme on over into the "Home"—pointing out the duty of the parent toward the proper guidance of the child, also.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Bartlett motored to Tallahassee Friday evening and returned with their daughter, Anne Bartlett, and the Misses Doris Wells and Carolyn Betner for over the Armistice Day. Mr. Lou Betner took them back to Tallahassee Tuesday evening.

I would like to take this opportunity to express our appreciation for the splendid co-operation and hearty interest that the people of Belle Glade have taken in our dramatic activity.

"Through the Keyhole" is a comedy which will keep the audience rolling in the aisles. This play will appeal to the fun-loving people who enjoy a good laugh.

So, come ye who want to forego for a while the cares of the day and enjoy a good presentation of a good play!

SIDELIGHTS FROM A SECOND GUESSER

Before we get any further, I'd like to say that those hesitations who didn't get to see the film on "The Romance of Mexico" shown here in the high school auditorium, certainly missed out on something. Just ask those who saw it.

Also I must apologize for announcing a "Cartoon Comedy" for last Monday's showing and then not being able to produce.

The cartoon is for next Monday instead, along with a 400 film on "People Who Live in the Desert."

But I thought "Wings Over World Wonders," in which we were carried on an airplane tour of the world, was just as good as a cartoon. Didn't you?

At least you can't feel cheated because its rental costs a quarter more than a Cartoon comedy.

The heating system in the school seems to be working a little better today than it did Monday. Hope whatever the trouble was has been permanently fixed.

Oh, yes, and speaking of patients missed out on something. Those who didn't hear Mr. Leonard's talk on "Education For a Democracy" last Monday missed out on it, too.

WHEREAS, by honest dealings and forthright conduct among his fellowmen he has added more than has been taken from this world, now
